I'd love it if just one of these smart assistants demos went wrong.
"Cloi, hello! What's my schedule for today?"
"Right now you're scheduled 'On that presentation crap' for an hour more and then you're scheduled to go meet the stripper from last Saturday! How exciting! Should I order the super-deluxe size condoms bag again from Amazon via Prime like last time?"

Pseudo-cutie face = fail by default. - If ever I want my robot to be as un-personal looking as possible, a simple box or a bar is fine, BUT NOT LIKE A CREEPY STUPID KIDDY TOY!

I better buy some appliances now so I am not forced to have this "technology" in my home
